The Intersection of Substance Use Disorder and Family Planning Care: Providing Sexual and Reproductive Healthcare to Patients with SUD

Provided by the University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Nursing and Health Studies
Jointly-Provider by the Clinical Training Center for Family Planning

Overview

The NCTCFP presents a new Continuing Education modality, “Articles of Interest,” featuring journal articles to keep you informed of family planning and reproductive health topics. This new on-line resource provides an easy way to obtain CE credit at your convenience! Just read the articles and complete a quiz about the content.

Successful Completion

To receive contact hours, participants must complete the course with a satisfactory grade of 80% or higher on the quiz and complete the Evaluation/Request for Credit form. CNE as well as Certificates of Completion will be available immediately upon passing the course and submitting the evaluation.

Objectives

At the completion of this activity, participants should be able to:

- Describe unmet sexual and reproductive health needs of people with substance use disorder.
- Discuss strategies for enhanced, client-centered care for people with substance use disorders.
- List at least three harm reduction principles for healthcare settings.

Conflict of Interest

In accordance with continuing education guidelines, speakers and planning committee members have disclosed financial relationships with commercial interests that may create a potential conflict of interest.
