

Articles of Interest

Providing Care to Sexual Minority Men and Women

Provided by the University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Nursing and Health Studies
Jointly-Provider by the Clinical Training Center for Family Planning

Overview

The NCTCFP presents a new Continuing Education modality, “Articles of Interest,” featuring journal articles to keep you informed of family planning and reproductive health topics. This on-line resource provides an easy way to obtain CE credit at your convenience! Just read the articles and complete a quiz about the content.

Event Description

This 0.75 hour Articles of Interest activity is part of the June 2022 Clinician Cafe, and addresses the unique sexual health needs and barriers seen in the LGBTQ+ community

Successful Completion

To receive contact hours, participants must complete the activity with a satisfactory grade of 80% or higher on the quiz and complete the Evaluation/Request for Credit form. CNE and CPH Certificates as well as Certificates of Completion will be available immediately upon passing the course and submitting the evaluation.

Objectives

- Identify barriers and facilitators to perceived and actual access to sexual health care by adolescent sexual minority men (ASMM).
- Describe the sexual and reproductive health literacy of sexual minority women (SMW) and how they perceive their healthcare needs.
